AirTran Airways Announces New Service To Grand Rapids, Michigan

ORLANDO, Fla. (January 28, 2010) – AirTran Airways, a subsidiary of AirTran Holdings, Inc. (NYSE: AAI), today announced that it will begin new nonstop service between Gerald R. Ford International Airport in Grand Rapids, Mich., and two of AirTran's largest operations, Baltimore/Washington International Thurgood Marshall Airport and Orlando International Airport.

"With its diverse mix of industries and population of more than 1.7 million people within an hour of the airport, Grand Rapids and Western Michigan have been on our radar for a long time," said Kevin Healy, senior vice president, marketing and planning for AirTran Airways. "Because of the leadership of the local business community, and particularly the Regional Air Alliance of West Michigan, we are finally able to make AirTran service there a reality."

AirTran Airways currently offers more than 700 daily flights from 67 cities with major operations in Atlanta, Baltimore, Milwaukee and Orlando.

"On behalf of the Regional Air Alliance of West Michigan, it is an honor to welcome AirTran Airways to Grand Rapids," said Dick DeVos, chair of the Regional Air Alliance of West Michigan. "This partnership is a win-win for the airline and our community. There are few opportunities which come along that bring immediate benefit to our region's consumers, our quality of life and our area's economic development goals. This is clearly one of those opportunities."
